Selecting Your RBA Performance Measures: Considerations

- What are the goals of your program?
- What is meaningful?
- What will allow you to show improvement over time, and learn what is working and what isn't working?
- What will demonstrate the impact of your program on populations experiencing health inequities?
- Who is the audience?
- Does your program have the capacity to collect data from program participants through a survey or other tool that you can design, implement, and analyze?

Selecting Your RBA Performance Measures: Categories (“Buckets”)

- Improved outcomes on any part of the cancer care continuum for a population experiencing disparities
- Reduced barriers to care (transportation, financial, etc.)
- Improved psychosocial/quality of life outcomes
- Changes in knowledge, skills, or behavior (among patients or providers)
